school collateral

Running a school is not too dissimilar to running a company. In many cases, maybe even more demanding when you think about teachers, parents, students and school administrators – each having their own unique requirements.

And like any business, schools also have large overheads, and looking at ways in which to reduce these overheads.

This is where Baseline can help. Baseline have worked with many schools in the past with designing and printing their collateral. It is an area Baseline now specialises in.

Baseline has invested in the latest digital printing technology by purchasing the Kodak NexPress 2500. The only digital press of its kind in New Zealand.

- print offset quality digitally, and
- print on recycled, sustainable stocks on-demand.

The NexPress provides an extremely eco-friendly platform and printing digitally allows for cost-effective, build on-demand production.

Having an in-house design studio allows us to design your collateral, freeing you up to do what you do best - TEACH.
